FESTIVAL RETURNS

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB REALIZES MORE THAN $725 FOR THE RED CROSS

The Executive Board of the Tuesday Afternoon Club at a session held this week, received reports from the chairmen of the various booths and other attractions at the Harvest Festival held on the High School grounds September 20th and 21st, and audited all expense accounts. When all the receipts had been totalled and all expenses taken out, it was found that the net sum left to be turned over to the Red Cross by the club was $727.67. As the goal at which the president of the club, Mrs. W. W. Ramsay, had aimed in this picturesque drive for Red Cross sinews of war was $700, the result shows what a clever manager and calculator of possible achievements she is. Members of her board give to her all the credit for the details of the plan under which the Harvest Festival was carried out, and the credit for carrying it to a successful conclusion.

The figures which have heretofore been given the Evening News do not include all the returns from the various units, but it is understood that the dinners served under the chairmanship of Mrs. Thomas Ogg yielded a net sum of $75, which was excellent, considering the fact that nearly all supplies had to be purchased. Mrs. Ogg is anxious that all members of her committee and those who assisted her in any way should know that they have her grateful thanks.

The same request has been made by Mrs. Ramsay, who wishes to thank all who in any way contributed to the happy result.

Final returns from the military wedding show a net profit for the Red Cross of $77.55 and in this connection the statement is made that Miss Dorothy Wilde sold 120 tickets, which was some salesmanship. Excellent work was also done by the poster committee, which consisted of Bessie Mock, chairman, and Misses Dorothy Woods, Dolline Jones, Mildred Swinburne, Viola Schoenfeldt and Stella Smith. Eight of the wedding posters were made by Miss Woods.

The wedding decorating committee, of which Birdie Lee Shropshire was chairman, feels that credit should be given Freeman Kelley for the plants and other decorations furnished by him for the occasion. Assisting the chairman on this committee were Misses Harriet Nichols, Mae Church, Dolly Jones, Leeta McCoy, Stella Smith, Lillian Shropshire, Gladys Lampert, Viola Turner and Alma Turner. Lillian Shropshire was chairman of the finance committee and was assisted by Miss Dorothy Wilde. The music committee was made up of Misses Alice Gray Beach and Margaret Lusby.

The Harvest Festival is said to be the biggest, most ambitious effort the Tuesday Club has ever made. Last year its musical section made a big contribution to the Red Cross in the returns from "Cranford," and the Shakespearean section donated the receipts from its second presentation of its Shakespearean Pageant.

The many members who worked in the Festival are not yet rested from their labors, but all say they were glad to give their service for the good of the great cause for which all are working.

DEATH OF CAPTAIN LECKIE

James Leckie died at his home in Tujunga Friday, September 27th, at 10:30, aged 46 years. Deceased is mourned by a devoted wife, also three sons, James, Jr., Andrew and Jack, three daughters, Regina, Mary and Genevieve, and a brother, John Leckie of Portland, Oregon, besides a large circle of friends. Captain Leckie was a retired naval officer, having been in active service 27 years, retiring 1½ years ago on account of ill health. He was Assistant Captain at the naval yards at Mare Island for three years and served three years in the Philippines. He was a member of Santa Barbara Lodge No. 613, B. P. O. E. The funeral services will be held at the parlors of the Jewel City Undertaking Company Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. and will be a military and Elks service combined, the Glendale Lodge of Elks No. 1289 having charge at the parlors and the naval officers having charge of the interment, which will be held at Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Grover C. Cable of Long Beach will be interested to know that a fine baby son arrived at their home Monday morning, September 30. Mrs. Cable is better known here as Mrs. Mary Smith Cable, a dramatic reader of note.

NATION OF DESTINY

REV. B. DUDLEY SNUDDEN CREDITS UNITED STATES WITH GOD-GIVEN MISSION

A militant spirit dominated the service at the First Methodist church of Glendale Sunday evening, the last service at which Rev. B. Dudley Snudden officiated as pastor, and it was fitting it should be so since he is leaving the first of the month for service over seas in the American army as a Y. M. C. A. worker.

The musical numbers included "Onward, Christian Soldiers" and "The Battle Call of Alliance" by the choir, the solo "Service Flag" by Miss Jennie Lacy, and a Triumphal March as an organ postlude.

The pastor's sermon theme was "U S. on the March. The Nation of Destiny," and his text was taken from Matthew 21-43. "I say unto you that the Kingdom of God shall be taken away from you and given to the nation bringing forth the fruits thereof."

In interpreting these words of Jesus, the pastor said:

"He meant that some time, some place in the world there would come forth that nation through which he could work to greater perfection than he could work through the Jewish people. The only way we can tell God's movements is to read the signs of the times. America today is the world nation of destiny. America can sway the political life of the world whichever way she wills. The destinies of the world depend upon what this country shall do.

"We have sent something like two millions of men to the western front, some thousands to Siberia and one hundred thousand more are to be sent there. We have given millions to the Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A. and all the other agencies that are working for a clean and sober world. Here we have outlawed racetrack gambling, we are outlawing today the vice districts in our cities, John Barleycorn is on the run, and back of what we do there flame up the great spiritual ideals. What we do may make the world safe for Democracy, but the way we do it is going to teach the world that the very Kingdom of God dwells in the American people.

"Do you believe in Providence? In the early days of this country came a statesman out of the forest, a young surveyor, and we said George Washington was a providential man. When the shadow of civil war loomed black upon the national horizon, another man came out of the wilderness and we said Abraham Lincoln was a providential man. Can we not see the hand of Providence in our leadership today? This country is destined to be the leader of the world's great moral and spiritual ideals.

PASSAGE OF SUFFRAGE AMENDMENT URGED

PRESIDENT WILSON ADDRESSES SENATE AND DECLARES ITS PASSAGE IS NECESSARY FOR WINNING THE WAR

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, September 30.—President Wilson today addressed the Senate, asking for the immediate passage of the Woman's Suffrage measure as necessary for winning the war. He declared that all parties favor woman's suffrage and there is no logical point over which a disagreement could be justified.

He said that suffrage is necessary in winning the war because the United States must be in a position to prove her absolute democracy to all nations and all factions.

The president strongly urged the immediate passage of the amendment.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, September 30.—The Bulgarian Ambassador to the United States today informed the United Press that the Bulgarians are practically re-entering the war on the side of the Allies and co-operating in Allied efforts to overpower Turkey.

The Ambassador today presented a communication to the State Department asking America's aid in securing an armistice. As the armistice already had been signed, no action was taken.

AMERICANS OPEN WAY FOR CANADIANS

PENETRATE FOUR MILES INTO THE HINDENBURG LINE OVER A FOUR-MILE FRONT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, September 30.—The Germans are stubbornly opposing the Americans between the Argonne forest and the Meuse River, throwing in fresh divisions.

Franco-Americans resumed their attack in Champagne this morning.

Reports at headquarters showed the American advance in the Cambrai region had penetrated four miles into the Hindenburg line over a four-mile front, opening the way for the Canadians to increase their gains.

This morning the Americans swung sharply to the left and are threatening an increased break for an enveloping movement.

Field Marshal Haig's reports today confirm the British entry into the outskirts of Cambrai, where hard fighting is in progress. The British reached the junction of the Arras-Cambrai-Bapaume road.

Additional progress was made at numerous points on the British front and all German counter attacks were repulsed.

The German losses were extremely heavy.

There is intense excitement every where expressed on account of the successes of the armies of the Allies. Reports come from all parts of the United States that citizens of America are supporting the Fourth Liberty Loan in a substantial manner. There is a determination on the part of every loyal American to win the war and win it quick.

KELLER SCHOOL OPENS

SATURDAY RECEPTION A BRILLIANT AND PICTURESQUE SOCIAL AFFAIR

The afternoon and evening receptions with which the Keller School of Dramatic Art and Dancing opened on Saturday were very picturesque affairs and great successes socially. Many visitors took advantage of the opportunity to see the work of the small pupils of the school in regular ballroom dancing as well as the more elaborate exhibition work, and a delighted audience was present throughout the afternoon when exhibition numbers were interspersed with informal dancing.

At the evening function Mrs. Keller, beautifully gowned in blue velvet trimmed with ermine received her guests, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Uda McCune, in black velvet garnished with jet, by her aunt, Mrs. Laura Lockhart, and by her friends, Mesdames Morris Cook, Maud Kahler and Miss Mabel Van Buren, the popular screen artist.

A feature of both affairs was the military ballet, by the school ballet corps of ten little girls who have been pupils of Mrs. Keller for several years and who do beautiful work. They were gowned to fit the theme in the national colors, and won storms of applause on both appearances, the personnel of the ballet being Merna Kahler, Dorothy Dutton, Doris Cook, Florence Rattray, Vivian Nay, Shirley and Glen Hitchcock, Marie Hearnshaw, Arlynn Yeakel and Gertrude Ewins. These little girls also appeared in charming solo dances.

Not less than two hundred were present during the evening to watch the pretty scene and participate in the informal dancing, for which the music was wonderful. The orchestra, furnished by Smeby of Los Angeles, consisted of four pieces, piano, drum, saxophone and banjo. The players were in dress suits, and no one who danced could resist their music.

The artistic decorations and furnishings in oriental shades have transformed the hall and made it exceedingly attractive and up-to-date in all its equipment in the way of dressing rooms, stage, etc., for the purposes of the school. Mrs. Keller's own apartment is a charming symphony of rose and dull blue carried out in draperies, rugs and upholstery. No expense or pains have been spared to make the quarters realize in the most perfect and artistic manner the purpose for which they have been arranged, and there is every reason to anticipate that the school will prove the social center Mrs. Keller has planned to make it. Her announcement that the first of a series of social dances would take place next Saturday evening was received with enthusiasm and it is probable that High School students and many in the young married set will take advantage of the opportunity as the tickets have been placed at a very moderate figure. Mrs. Keller also announced that preceding the informal dancing, instruction would be given from 8 to 8:45 on those evenings.

As already announced, the regular classes for children will meet Saturdays, the little folks and beginners in the forenoon from ten to twelve, a girls' class from three to four and a boys' class from 4 to 5, the instruction including ballroom dancing, general technique and fancy dancing.

Mrs. Keller reports that the military ballet has been engaged by Clune of Los Angeles as a novelty to be put on for one week in the near future in connection with a big picture to be announced.

ON THE MOVE

Private Laurence Rowe surprised and delighted his parents by arriving unexpectedly from Camp Kearny about midnight on Saturday. He spent Sunday with them, returning that evening to camp in the expectation of being entrained today with 157 other men who have been assigned to railroad work for Camp Benjamin Harrison near Indianapolis, where they will take three months' special training in railroad work for the army. The officers are very anxious to have the men on their way to begin training, so it is probable they will leave today, though Laurence said it was not perfectly certain they would go.

Walter Peters, who was with Laurence at Richmond and who was sent back with him to Camp Kearny, has been placed in the 82d Infantry Trench Mortar Company and will be stationed at Camp Kearny for some time.

Eldred Marlett, also a Glendale boy, is with the 82d Infantry Machine Gun Company and he too will probably be at Camp Kearny for some time.

BIG DAY FOR KNIGHTS

DISTINGUISHED SPEAKERS APPEAR AT K. C. BANQUET SUNDAY EVENING

Nothing happened to interfere in any way with the carrying out of arrangements made for the institution of Council No. 1920 Knights of Columbus in this city on Sunday, and it was a highly successful affair in every detail, beginning with the parade of charter members headed by the Submarine Base Band from San Pedro and a detachment of sailors and soldiers, and the beautiful service conducted by Father O'Neill on the High School campus at which Father Raley made a fine talk from the text, "Put ye on the new man who according to God was created in justice and holiness of truth." This thought he said would be in the heart of every man "over there," who would think of his home as the abode of justice and truth. In the afternoon the formal institution exercises and induction of officers took plaec in the hall of the Central building on Broadway, conducted by Attorney Joseph Scott of Los Angeles, and in the evening the big social and oratorical event of the day, the banquet at which more than four hundred guests were served, came off. From an epicurian standpoint it was all that a banquet should be, a delicious five-course repast prepared by a committee of ladies of which Mrs. Peter Ferry was chairman, and efficiently served by them. A committee on decorations which included Mrs. Doll and Miss Wendell contributed the floral embellishment of the tables, which were gay with carnations and asters in a combination of the national colors.

John McGroarty was in the usual happy vein of wit and humor which makes him such an ideal toastmaster and his introduction of speakers could not have been surpassed.

Mr. Woodberry as mayor of the city, welcomed the visiting guests and on behalf of the municipality voiced his appreciation of the work the Knights are doing in co-operation with all the other agencies who are engaged in the work of carrying on the war and backing up the government, a work in which the lines of class and creed have been blotted out. It was a fitting speech for such an official to make on such an occasion and it was well received.

Mattison B. Jones, who was to have been one of the speakers, was unexpectedly summoned to the Imperial Valley Saturday afternoon and was unable to be present. The other orators listed upon the program were there, however, including W. Joseph Ford, Grand Knight Elect of the Los Angeles Council No. 621, Judge Paul J. McCormick, Joseph Scott, Rev. Henry Walsh, S. J., Chaplain, Fort MacArthur, Rev. Charles Raley, Chaplain of U. S. Navy, San Pedro, and Mr. O'Brien, Paymaster of the Naval Marine Base at San Pedro.

Under the head of "Random Thoughts of Today," Judge McCormick dwelt on the co-operation and unity which a great cause for which all are working has brought about. A man's measure, he declared, is his manliness as represented by his integrity, morality and patriotism, and is not limited by creed. For that reason he made it clear, it is possible for the Knights of Columbus to do a great work in co-operation with all the agencies which are working for moral and spiritual uplift in the army and outside as well.

Joseph Scott, in fervent oratory, carried the same thought and told incidents of his recent tour of the camps of France, where he saw men enduring the agonies of death without a murmur, and where he saw the Salvation Army out at the front under the fire of shot and shell giving to the fighting men the comfort of a cup of hot coffee and a doughnut when they needed it most. On the way to Pasadena, he said he passed a Salvation Army unit with a bum cornet and a battered drum, and remembering what their fellows are doing over there, he bared his head reverently. Take off your hat to the Salvation Army, he admonished.

Father O'Neill, who filled the place on the program reserved for Mattison B. Jones, was introduced by Toastmaster McGroarty as "the tall sycamore." He spoke of the development of Glendale in the past ten years and thanked the citizens present for their hearty co-operation in making this celebration so great a success.

Father Henry Walsh, Chaplain at Fort MacArthur, told of the monotony of the soldier life in camp and urged citizens to write often to the boys as a matter of cheer.

Paymaster O'Brien called attention to the fact that the Navy, while it is blowing no trumpets, has been responsible for carrying the nearly two million men to the other side and to the battle line. Referring to the Liberty Loan, he declared that the army and navy can not do it all; the civilians must do their share by buying bonds. He also spoke of the fine work that is being done by the Y. M. C. A. in the camps on the other side.

A round robin by Father Raley reviewing the points of each speaker and springing an Irish joke on each one, completed the after-dinner program.

Appropriate music for the various services of the day was furnished by the Submarine Base Band of San Pedro, which also gave a fine concert Sunday afternoon on the High School campus on behalf of the Fourth Liberty Loan, at which Mr. Fry was the chief orator, making one of the addresses for which he is famous and one which brought home to every hearer the personal obligation resting upon each in this great drive.

Announcement was made by M. J. Brennan that on the opening day of the Fourth Liberty Loan drive in this city, the baby Council had entered its subscription for a bond, thus putting itself on record as a patriotic organization.

It was a very representative audience which assembled for the banquet and included most of the prominent citizens of Glendale. All the city trustees were there, as well as the High School trustees and several members of the faculty, among whom were Prof. George U. Moyse and Business Manager Irving Oliver.

BOY FROM MAINE IS FULL OF GRIT

By Frank J. Taylor
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

AN AMERICAN HOSPITAL IN FRANCE, Sept. 2. (By Mail.)—He is one of three brothers fighting in Uncle Sam's army. Way back near the roots their family tree includes some French royalty. The branch that produced the three brothers emigrated to Canada, and later moved to Maine.

His name is Avid Lefebre, and he is one of the most cheerful and optimistic sufferers in the hospital, doctors and nurses and orderlies say. He went over the top with the first of them when the Yankee division stormed the German positions west of Chateau-Thierry.

It cost him a leg—they brought him to the base hospital with a terrible wound, but he insisted on smiling and saying, "Thank you," when anyone did anything for him. He stood the pain like a Spartan, and after the operation lingered between life and death, but with never a complaint.

His patience and spirit attracted attention to him as he gradually gained strength. Soon he was on the road to recovery in a cot on an open air pavilion they've made into the largest ward in France, where Europe's wealthy class used to spend gay summers.

One night, after the midnight taps, the sergeant in charge of that ward heard a clear voice singing, not loudly. The sergeant tip-toed over in the direction of the singing, saying, "Say, old man, why the midnight concert?"

It was Lefebre who sang, and he replied, "That you, Sarge? Still up? Well, my stump is driving me wild tonight—guess it's going to rain—and when it gets so bad I can't stand it any longer, I just sing—that's all."

The "Sarge" understood. "Taps don't count for you, old man," he said, "go on and sing."

And the "Sarge" tip-toed away, while Lefebre went on singing. The "Sarge" says the song was "A Little Home in the U. S. A."

While in the hospital, Lefebre received news of his mother's death. His greatest care and comfort then became his sister, back in Maine, alone since all the brothers were fighting.

Avid is on his way back to her now—he may have reached the "Little Home in the U. S. A." Before he left the hospital he wrote to his sister of his wound and the caputation:

"It isn't as bad as it might have been. I've got a right good stump left, and they're making dandy artificial legs nowadays."

15,000,000 PEOPLE IN MEXICO

Of the fifteen million or more people of Mexico, thirteen millions are working men and women, while of the remainder only ten thousand are of what is termed the upper class, according to R. F. Del Valle, who is endeavoring to launch an Americanization movement among Mexicans of this country, and through them promulgate the education of his country.

It is Mr. Del Valles belief that much could be done to put the relations of the two nations on a sound and sensible basis of amity by showing the working Mexican what American traits and tendencies mean, and have this knowledge transmitted to Mexico.

The primary purpose of organizing is to make employers of Mexican labor realize their responsibilities so that there will be better mutual understanding and confidence. Better housing conditions are also necessary to instill confidence in the Mexicans, and plans should be adopted for the disseminating proper information as to the friendly attitude of this government toward the Mexican people.

THE K. OF C. HUT

The following snappy little poem is published by special request of Father James O'Neill:
By James G. Keenan in The Boston Post

Everyone is welcome,
And everything is free;
The door is never fastened—
We have thrown away the key.
If you're fighting for the Allies,
On land or on the sea,
You're a lad who's always welcome
'Neath the letters "K. of C."

Your birthplace doesn't matter—
Britain, France or Italy,
U. S. A. or any other
Of the allied Twenty-three—
It's enough that you are fighting,
That the whole world may be free,
And we're proud to have you enter
'Neath the letters "K. of C."

The creed that you're professing
Is a subject that will be
Taboo beyond the threshold
Of the hut marked "K. of C."
There is no discrimination,
And there never is a fee;
Everyone is welcome,
And everything is free.

A NEW INSIGNIA

Sergeant—"How many times must I tell you men that you must salute all officers whom you can recognize within thirty paces? A dozen of you men here walked directly past the Captain on the other side of the street this morning and didn't even turn your heads."

Voice from the Ranks—"Put a skirt on him and we'll see him."

LOTS OF WORK IN BASE HOSPITALS

By Frank J. Taylor
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

AN AMERICAN HOSPITAL IN FRANCE, Sept. 3. (By Mail.)—Base hospitals, far to the rear of big offensives, play an important part in the fighting.

The way an offensive looks from a big base hospital can be pictured from a letter written by a non-commissioned officer in an American base during the Chateau-Thierry offensive.

The writer starts his letter by telling how emergency surgical teams from the hospital were called for service at the front, departing one by one. "Thus we had an inkling that something big was afoot," he writes. "We, left behind, waited. Perhaps it was only a local fight requiring immediate surgical work, we thought. In a few days we should know.

"Then came the wounded. The first train was light. At the time our wards were but partially filled, hence we had no difficulty in receiving the influx with a calmness that was almost leisurely.

"Before we could breathe, however, came another call from that unseen center of activity which sends us our charges. We were ready to receive patients, though the number surprised us a little, but everyone fell to with a will and we were ready. All the wounded were received and accommodated in a manner that brought credit to the hospital and to the army.

"We began to feel a little important and efficient. Then, almost before we had time to think, came a third order: 'Be ready to receive—patients.' That instantly wiped away any thoughts of self-congratulation. It put before us the greatest task yet. Four teams were organized, with a surgeon in charge of each, and no sooner was one case completed than the next began. Such surgery, too! Some of the professional men I heard speak of it as 'beautiful.' For my part, however, I can not describe it thus. To me it was, rather, marvelous. Never before did I have such an understanding of the surgeon's art.

"It truly seemed as if each part of the human anatomy was set out before us as plainly as if charted, while miracles were performed before our very eyes. One after another they came—came so rapidly the surgeons took only time enough between to 'scrub up.' Thus lives were saved as if by magic: men were virtually made over on the operating table.

"When we looked up at the end of the first day we found we had been working without break for 19 hours. It was at this moment 3 in the morning. By 8 the surgical department was again fully alive. All day long we worked at our posts. Then at midnight came the order: 'Work straight through till morning.'

"Thus one day succeeded another, until we scarcely knew when it was day, when night. In fact, I can not now recall the days and distinguish one from the rest. As I look back over them, they all run together—one long, continuous day, with no break at all for night. At last, though, we were rewarded. Order came out of chaos, as order must, and we had the satisfaction of hearing the chief surgeon say, 'Well, boys, we may rest a little now. Every urgent case has been attended.'

"What satisfaction that announcement really did bring I can hardly expect you to imagine. Unless you were actually in the work, it would be next to impossible. There was, in a word, the feeling of gratification for work—hard work—well done.

"Now, too, we are day by day seeing the effects of our work. I see it perhaps more than some of the others, for I am all the day long in the midst of the patients as they slowly wend their way back toward health. What a revelation they are! What a demonstration of that electrifying spirit of America!

"There is no complaint. The ones who suffer most grumble least. Sometimes it is unbelievable. To them the Germans are no supermen. They have been near enough to see. At the same time there is no braggadocio. Instead, we find simply a philosophical acceptance of realities and a determination to win the war at any cost. If ever anyone entertained a lurking apprehension that there might be a remote possibility of disaster for the Allied cause, one moment with those young chargers who went through the fire and came back to us would convince him of his folly."

TRUE, ANYHOW

There's little poetry in this,
But much truth, you will own:
The hand that pulls the trigger is
The hand that rocks the throne.

Miss Rebecca Gregg left Sunday for Berkeley for her junior year in the University of California.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Nicholson of 818 West Seventh street are moving to 1215 East Wilson avenue.

Miss Dorothy Williams of 208 South Orange street left for Berkeley the latter part of the week for her second year in the University of California.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver L. Scott and son Paul are leaving for Highland Park, where they will reside, Mr. Scott having purchased the Garvanza Pharmacy.

Mr. and Mrs. Norton Marshall of Long Beach and their niece, Miss Martha La Fountain, were the week-end guests of Mrs. Marshall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. La Fountain of West Acacia avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wildman of the Tropico district were guests at an informal family dinner given by Mrs. G. H. Rowe of 516 South Orange street in honor of her son, Private Laurence Rowe, who came home on Sunday leave and is expecting to entrain today for Camp Benjamin Harrison.

F. G. Latter, the railroad man, who has been in Kansas City in the employ of the Rock Island for some time, is at home for a vacation of indefinite duration. He arrived in time to see his son Sergt. Harold Latter before he entrained for Fortress Monroe on Saturday. Sergt. Latter has been at Fort MacArthur for about a year and is glad to be moved on. He does not know where he will be sent from Fortress Monroe. He was given leave from Tuesday to Thursday, which he spent in Glendale.

Messrs. Wilde, Walker and McFadden of the Ford Agency do not seem to be greatly disturbed over the fact that the Ford factory has ceased to manufacture automobile for the general public. They say they can get plenty of trucks, in which they are doing quite a business, and they can get the Sedan, or closed cars, which are growing in popularity. Also, they are doing considerable in the way of buying up old cars and remodeling them to be sold again. When remade they are in many cases as good as a new car and, of course, can be bought for less money.

Mrs. Charles Burket has been made happy by the receipt of quite a grist of letters written by her son Dana from overseas. They have not arrived in the order in which they were written, some of them being six weeks old, but they are welcome along with the fresh ones and give news which is of interest to her. He writes he is very busy as are all the rest of the army men, most of whom are working about 18 hours a day. He speaks of the moonlight as so beautiful that every one has it in for the bugler when he sounds "Taps," as no one wants to go to bed.

ALONE WITH GOD IN THE SILENCE

By F. Lee Chauvan

Alone with God in the silence,
In the hush of my soul—alone;
I feel the thrill of the instant
In a Mind that ruleth my own.

In a Mind that ruleth my own
Is the solace of my being,
It guides me in my duty's path,
My heart from its burden freeing.

Evil can see in its darkness,
But not in the light He giveth,
Who clears the soul of its vapor,
And in its purity liveth.

its fruits. We thought Germany was civilized. We went so far as to think our preachers and our physicians and our musicians had not finished their educations until they had absorbed some of Germany theology or culture. We thought of the Germans as a great, methodical people. But we have found the fruit of their character in the things they have been doing for the past four years.

"Our thought of France was that of a light, frivolous, pleasure-loving people, but we have had a chance to see the great soul of France, ready to fight to the last ditch for her national honor.

"We have thought of the British as the John Bull of commerce whose head was so interested in making money that he had no heart to do anything for the world.

"The world thought we were so busy chasing the dollar we could not see the value of the great things of life.

"England has her national sins. I was born under the Union Jack and I feel free to acknowledge them: the opium traffic and the liquor traffic (which is still making its slimy way). We have had our sins. We had a national lottery. We sent missionaries to foreign lands, but we also sent alcohol, and yet—Great Britain during the 17th, 18th and 19th centuries has been the greatest civilizing power in the world, and today in spite of the fact that she has poured out her men by the millions and her treasure by the billions and borrowed from us by the billions that she might maintain her national honor, she is still keeping up her mission work all over the globe. When the iron heel of Prussia marched across Belgium, England flung her armies into the breach that she might maintain her national honor. What else could England have done? She could have allowed Belgium and France to be trampled to the dust and with one-tenth the cost of men and treasure have made herself impregnable in an island fortress and sent her navy to battle with the German navy, but she chose instead to take men from all walks of life and give them to shot and shell for her honor's sake and for humanity's sake.

"We came upon the great scene as an individual emerging into manhood. We had built a wall around ourselves called the Monroe Doctrine and thought we could live in peace and security. We are coming into the task that we may perform a great and destined work. God has committed to us the very movements of the Kingdom of God in the world. The nations of the world shall rise up and call the United States blessed because of what it has done and because it is the inspiration of democracy. The colored man no longer fears slavery because we made that thing an outlaw sixty years ago. China reaches her hand across the sea as to a benefactor because in the days of the Boxer uprising we treated her justly and we poured back into her treasury the indemnity. In the years to come, the Philippines will likewise call us blessed. France! wonderful France! bled white until all her people are in black and yet carrying on with smiles on their faces; little crushed Belgium; little Serbia shall rise up and call us blessed because of the things we are doing today; for, as one private soldier, a boy from Nebraska, phrased it: 'We are fighting for things as they should be.'

"We are coming today to see the nation's soul as we have never seen it before. If you will analyze your own life you will realize you never knew your own soul as you know it today. You thought you knew it a year ago, but you didn't. We are learning today the quality of the national soul. The world is learning it, because the Kingdom of God has been given into our keeping.

"It has been said that an army can not fight on an empty soul. Do you think we are going to escape the things the boys on the other side are facing? No. If they can not get along with an empty soul, neither can we. Men are copying after God. The Son of Mary, the Son the Carpenter, heard the call of duty and came down to serve humanity, to transform man and make him like himself, and God hung his service flag, in the Star of Bethlehem."

Mr. Snudden closed with a personal appeal to the members of his audience to enter the service of God, followed by a fervent prayer for the church and its officials and for their spiritual upbuilding.

WEATHER FORECAST—Unsettled weather, probably showers.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

N. P. BANKS POST AND CORPS OBSERVE TWENTY-FOURTH ANNIVERSARY

The meeting of N. P. Banks Post and Corps held Friday in honor of the 24th anniversary of the organization of the Post, proved a most interesting and enjoyable affair. A large attendance of members of both organizations were present.

As usual, the dinner served by the ladies was fully up to the high standard of excellency they have always maintained. Plates were laid for more than 100 guests. Among the visitors from outside may be mentioned Past Department Commanders Gavin M. Stormont of Pomona, C. H. Haskins of Stanton Post, Los Angeles, A. H. Baldwin, Commander of Vicksburg Post, Pomona, and quite a number of visiting comrades from neighboring posts. The Department President of the W. R. C. of Texas, Mrs. Buelow, was also among the visitors.

A short program following the dinner hour included an interesting reading by Mrs. Eustace B. Moore. Mrs. George Herald, with Mrs. Crawford as accompanist, rendered two vocal solos which were most thoroughly enjoyed. Mrs. Buelow gave an interesting talk on the condition of the W. R. C. and G. A. R. in Texas.

An interesting feature was the presentation of a beautifully framed portrait of President Wilson to the Post from Mrs. Jennie Phillips, Mrs. Pixley making the presentation in a few well-chosen words.

Mrs. Imler then presented to the ladies of the corps a fine portrait of the founder of the Post, Comrade B. F. Patterson. Comrade Clark rendered a tribute to the service flag by Will N. Heshell.

A big birthday cake was then cut by Mrs. Purnell, president of the corp, and served to all present. The event will be long remembered by those prsent.

C. H. CLARK.
Commander of N. P. Banks Post.

THE DRIVE IS ON

By Charles B. Driscoll

Our boys are headed for the Rhine,
The Huns are homeward turning,
And every night the sky is bright
With towns the boche is burning.

Full soon the trail of blight and death,
The path of devastation,
Will point the way, by night and day,
Across the German nation.

Drive on, brave boys from Yankeeland!
Our hearts with pride are swelling;
Today we dare to do our share
With something more than yelling.

We're going to back you up with cash,
As much as may be needed;
We'll give you guns to beat the Huns,
Till vict'ry is conceded.

The home-front drive is under way;
Your voices seem to call us;
We'll change this thing the Heinies sing
To "Deutschland Unter Alles."

IT'S HARD TO PRAY AS SHELLS BURST

(By United Press)

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Sept. 1. (By Mail.)—"They are developing nerves of iron over here, and nothing scares them—that is, nothing the German can do."

It was an army chaplain who said it, a man the boys all loved and admired for his courage and devotion under fire. The chaplain told a little story to illustrate his statement.

This chaplain carries a folding field altar which he sets up wherever he finds a cave and holds services among the men where he finds them. His services are popular, it goes without saying.

While saying prayers during one of these services in a cellar close to the trenches, a German bombardment broke loose. One shell exploded just outside the cellar, making a terrific noise. But one man broke the silence of the prayer inside the cellar—this chap could not resist an "O Christ!"

The rest kept their heads bowed and the chaplain finished his prayer and ended the service. The man who had made the exclamation lingered after the others had gone, and with his head hanging in shame approached the chaplain.

"I'm sorry, Father,' 'he said, "but I forgot myself, and just couldn't hold it in. I guess I'm a baby compared to the rest of the fellows. Sometime I'll learn to be brave in silence."

"It was one of those times when I couldn't say anything," continued the chaplain, "so I just shook hands with him and felt honored to do it."

THE FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN

For the fourth time our government asks the public for funds with which to prosecute the war. The amount is larger than any previous loan, because of the growing cost of the war. Our overseas army approximates one million seven hundred thousand men. Food, guns, munitions, transportation and the necessary attendant costs mount into the billions. The strain of war is upon us. We now have a realizing sense of the present and impending loss in men and money, the necessity for service and sacrifice, for economy and patriotic devotion. In order that the lives of our army abroad may be saved, the suffering of the sick and wounded ameliorated, there must be an unbroken flow of guns, munitions and army equipment, of food, medicine and hospital supplies. To insure this uninterrupted flow in sufficient volume the government needs the funds it asks for.

Taxes, in as great volume as is deemed prudent, are imposed upon all men and all industries with uniformity and fairness. By the selective draft the personal military burden is imposed upon all of military age and fitness with uniformity and impartiality. When it comes to the placing of government bonds, the matter of subscription is voluntary. Subscription, however, is a privilege as well as a patriotic duty and involves making a safe investment at a fair rate of interest.

The country is thoroughly aroused. All camouflage as to who brought about the war and their purpose in so doing has been dissipated. The Huns stand convicted before the World. Germany believed the submarine would give her victory, and she deliberately and purposely forced the United States into the war, believing in her blind conceit that from this country she would recoup her losses by receiving a large indemnity. For generations we shall continue to pay taxes "made in Germany" but our only contribution to Germany direct will be delivered in a masterful manner by our army and navy.

It is our duty as citizens to make this loan a success and it is our pleasure to offer you, gratuitously, the facilities of the Bank of Glendale in making subscriptions and to pledge you our very best services in carrying out your instructions.

Yours for "a long pull and a strong pull and a pull all together,"

BANK OF GLENDALE.

The Measure of Patriotism

In time of war patriotism is measured by sacrifice.

The man at the front gives up all - often life itself.

We at home are only asked to hold tenaciously to our "will to win".

Without our assistance the brave lad in France fights and dies in vain; a burnt and bleeding sacrifice for naught. Yet he is fighting to preserve your cause and my cause - - to defend the Land we Love.

The Fourth Liberty Loan offers you another opportunity to back up the boys in France - to "measure-up" - to show your "will to win". You are asked to serve, not by giving, but by lending your funds to your Country in its time of need.
